

Temptation, Sin, and Grace

Even though God is constantly trying to show us the best way to live, we are tempted from time to time to wander away from his path.

What is temptation? Temptation is the desire to do something that is unwise or wrong.

We experience temptation in a hundred ways. Sometimes temptation comes in the form of thoughts.

We might think, "Maybe I should copy my friends homework and then I won't have to do it myself." Sometimes our friends lead us into temptation. One of them might say, "Let's go down to the park without telling our parents." And sometimes we lead other people into temptation by suggesting things that don't help them become the-best-version-of-themselves.

In our hearts we know these things are wrong. When was the last time you were tempted to do something that you knew was wrong?
